Paypal is an online money managing "merchant" site. People tend to use it to buy/sell products as well as many other uses. When a Paypal is first made, there is always the hassle of a spending limit. It usually increased by adding a credit card or get rid of all-together by adding a bank account/applying for a Paypal Credit Card.

The image shows the NetSpend 'Log In' page. At the top, it says 'Log In' in large blue letters. Below that, a message reads 'Please enter your Username and Password to access your Account:'. There are two input fields: 'Username:' with the text 'Pokemoners2' and 'Password:' with masked characters. A green 'Log In' button is at the bottom.

7. After you log-into the account, go under the Add/Manage money tab. There should be a sub-section called Paypal Transfers.

The image shows the NetSpend account dashboard. At the top, there's a header with the NetSpend logo, a Visa card image, and account details: 'Last Login 06/18/2009', 'Cardholder Since May 2009', and 'Available Card Balance*: $0.26'. Below the header is a navigation bar with links: Home, My Account, Add/Manage Money, Send Money, Pay Bills, Help, Log Out, and En Español. The 'Add/Manage Money' link is highlighted, and a dropdown menu is open showing options: How to Add Money, Direct Deposit, Free Bank Transfers, Manage Savings, Anytime Alerts, Find Reload Centers, Activate a Reload Pack, and Paypal Transfers. Below the navigation bar is a promotional banner for Murphy USA gas stations, offering $0.03 off per gallon. The banner includes a 'Find a Murphy USA near you' button and a link to 'Maybe later. Go to my Account Center.'

8. Read the instructions on how to further verify your Paypal.

9. Next, you can either open up a new tab or a new browser. Go the Paypal site (www.Paypal.com) and go to the top where it says "Get Verified"
